SHORTCUT

services are

- the key to optimized use of our products at any time

services offer the user

- needs-oriented support for all aspects of our products
- a competent point of contact for every detail
- the opportunity to decide for oneself what is needed

FULL STEAM AHEAD TO YOUR SUCCESS

Of course we could be satisfied with simply providing you with exceptional software products. But we want much more: we want to contribute to your success.

That is why we have put together a selection of service offers that will accompany you on your way to producing a convincing and impressive product presentation:

- Image editing
- Data management
- Training courses
- Support
- Layout and concept creation
- Process management

Our services reflect our comprehensive cross-sector experience and know-how. At the same time, these services are aligned perfectly with your actual requirements.

Let's take, for example, the processing of spatial images. We will be happy to offer advice on how to create optimized photography templates, and help you with tips and tricks for the generation of mapped image variants. And if you prefer, you can delegate the entire image processing and variant creation workflow to us.

SUPPORT À LA CARTE

Our services are not just a rigid 'assortment of offers' – they are measures and actions designed to meet your specific requirements.

Our training courses can, of course, also be held at your own facility to make sure that learning content can be utilized exactly where it is needed; the workplace of your employees. The content and focal points of your training courses will reflect your specific wishes and requirements.

Whichever course you decide on, one thing will be absolutely certain: you will benefit directly from the knowledge we apply in our own business successfully on a daily basis, and which we continuously improve upon.

You can also count on us for your day-to-day business. Our services in the area of maintenance include quick and competent support for application issues, and regular software updates.

Talk to us about your service requirements, and we will be happy to provide you with a tailor-made solution.
